TAFT IS COMING.

Secretary of War William H. Taft is coming to Ohio for an address. Senator Charles Dick was so informed by Chairman Sherman of the national congressional committee Saturday.

After a telephone conference with Albert Douglas, candidate for congress in the Eleventh district, Senator Dick announced that Secretary Taft would speak in either Chillicothe or Logan on Monday night, October 20. Mr. Douglas is to decide on the place.

That the secretary of war is coming to Ohio will astonish many politicians who hoped that the big figure of the war secretary would not appear upon an Ohio platform for a number of years. The sentiment of that Akron speech is felt by many a loyal party man, particularly the friends of Governor Herrick.

Further than that there is a suspicion that the irrepressible and sudden Taft may blossom forth in another anti-bossism speech. As the president's emissary he might say things that would not be salubrious at the present time, but it is hardly thought that with 21 congressional candidates hanging in the balance he will declare war upon the existing order of things in Ohio.

Congressman Theodore Burton had asked for Taft to speak in Cleveland, but it is significant to note that his one Ohio speech will be delivered in the Eleventh district, away from the mischievous influence that the Cleveland reformer might exercise.

In the Eleventh district he can render help to a cause that is regarded as needing all the bolstering that a man of Taft's eminence can give.

Hard pressed by the miners, the factional fights and the Democratic support behind Judge O. W. H. Wright, Mr. Douglas will welcome Taft with the clarion call to elect a Republican congress. It is something to have the president's "handy man" make an appeal for the election of a Republican congressman to support his doctrines.—Ohio Sun.

Want the Fees.

Columbus, Oct. 16.—The County Treasurers of Ohio have made an important discovery. It is no other than that the law under which the County Commissioners have been granting a thirty day extension of time for the payment of taxes is no good, and so the treasurers will give notice that the semi-annual payment of taxes for December must be paid on or before the twentieth of that month.

In nearly every county it has been the custom to allow the period of grace mentioned, but there is a special and obvious reason why it is not to be followed now. The new county salary law goes into effect on the first day of January, and if the tax books are not closed until the twentieth day of that month, the treasurers will not get the benefit of the fees for the collection of these receipts, which are always heavier in January than in December. This is the situation in a nut shell. The treasurers can not draw fees after January 1, therefore, they will close the books on December 20, and make sure of their perquisites.

Next to the County Auditors, which has built up the strongest county officers' organization the State has ever had, the county treasurers and the most astute wire pullers and smoothest politicians among the county officials; and when they issue their edict that all taxes must be in by the twentieth day of December, they will cite in justification of their action a law which will seem to make the step both reasonable and proper.

Dick Non Plused.

(Kenton Democrat.)

"He (Dick) did not capture any stump speakers in New York or Washington, where he went to hunt for them, for there were none to be had," says the Ohio State Journal by way of comment on Boss Dick's trip to the east. Immediately following the Republican state convention Senator Dick stated that practically every spellbinder of importance in the country would participate in the Ohio campaign, and it was the general opinion that the Democrats would be blown off the map by the oratorical cyclone. But the Jackson (O) Herald, commenting upon the statement of the boss, said that "not one self-respecting Republican in the United States could be prevailed upon to lend assistance to a cause opposed by such men as Congressmen Burton and Harry M. Daugherty," and that those words were prophetic as attested by the failure of the boss to secure the "big guns" he promised.

Rev. Sam P. Jones.

(Hartford Courant.)

John Wesley was a university man and a gentleman; George Whitefield was a university man, too; Jonathan Edwards was as dignified as terrifying in the pulpit; Sumnerfield had, by report, a voice more musical than Henry Clay's and very winning manners; Finney was sometimes extremely theatrical, but no mountebank; many of our older readers remember Moody. Sam Jones did not form himself on the pattern of any of these great revivalists. He borrowed not a little from the Peter Cartwright school of pioneer circuit-riders, but he founded (we fear) a school of his own. It is to be said that the violent and coarse language of which he made such a telling specialty in his harangues was much more offensive when read in cold type than when listened to as it fell from his tongue; the soft Southern accent was in the nature of sugar-coating. He was in great request for more than a quarter-century; his income was marvelous in the eyes of the stay-at-home Georgia preachers, his brethren; his boast that he had "saved a million souls" may be thought extravagant; there can be no doubt that he did much good visible in this world—visible in the lives of frightened and reclaimed men—along with some visible harm.

Douglas Visits Nelsonville

(Buckeye News.)

Hon. Albert Douglas, Republican candidate for Congress, was in this city Tuesday in company with County Prosecutor Foster, looking after the political fences in this section of the state. Mr. Foster was one of the illustrious "Athens County Triumvirate," that placed in Douglas's hands the nomination for Congress, and it is but fitting that he should escort Douglas over the county, pointing out the places where the "fence" needs strengthening the most. To a disinterested observer it begins to look very much as if the whole fence stood in need of a general overhauling. The bottom rails are rotten and the top ones are falling to pieces. The repairs should be made under the supervision of a new engineer. What is the matter with Judge O. W. H. Wright?

WOMAN

"Woman" is the name of a new magazine for women. The first number is just issued. Your newsdealer has it. You can get it from him, and it is worth your while getting it. There is nothing startling about this magazine. There should be nothing startling about a decent magazine for women and the home. But this particular magazine is unique among all the so-called publications for women. You might not like it a little bit, and then, again, it might hit your fancy good and hard.

If you like fiction—good, wide-awake, snappy stories—both serials and short stories—you will like "Woman." In fact, fiction is the big feature of the magazine.

All the other magazines for women are cast on the same model—a little bit of fiction, a few articles, more or less chit chat, some wise advice, a fashion department and a smattering of general miscellany. "WOMAN" doesn't look any more like this conventional model than a yellow dog looks like a race horse. It is built on new lines for a strictly woman's publication. To know what it is like you will have to get a copy of it. It would cost too much to tell you all about it in this advertisement.

The price of "WOMAN" is TEN CENTS A COPY, and the magazine is a very big one—192 pages.

By the way, two rattling good serial stories begin in this first number and it contains a big lot of other good things. You would do well to ask your dealer for it before his supply is exhausted.
